A man entered a law office in Helena, Mont., recently and compelled a lawyer to draw up an affidavit asserting that the visitor who gave the name of Robert Dutton, was guilty of the murder of an old farmer and his wife in Toronto, Canada, last Fall. A man named McWhirrell is now under sentence of death for killing the old couple. Dutton explained that he made the affidavit to keep an innocent man from being hanged. After signing the paper he backed out of the lawyer's office, ordered him to keep his mouth shut and disappeared. The officials are puzzled over the affair.

Suicide.

Gertie Wheeler, the unfortunate woman who took sixty grains of morphine at her lodging place Monday night, died about three o'clock yesterday morning.

It seems she went down stairs to eat supper, and presently returning threw an empty bottle on the bed, and said to a young man who was in the room, "I have taken the contents of that."

Dr. Guinan was immediately summoned, and the girl was thoroughly pumped out, but despite heroic efforts of friends, rubbing, beating with towels etc., death ensued.

A marriage certificate dated December 12, 1887, at which time deceased was 18 years old, showed that she had married Frederick Halford, in San Francisco. Her maiden name was Bessie Wilson, and her brother Marian Wilson was telegraphed to in San Francisco yesterday and the Coroner's Jury adjourned until 5:30 this afternoon awaiting an answer.

The body was removed to the morgue, where the inquest is being held.

A Family of Freaks.

Jason Hires, who died recently at Munson, Pa., was widely known as the father of the oddest family of children under the sun. The eldest, a boy of eighteen, has 13 fingers and 13 toes. Next to him is another boy 16 years old. As long as this boy is quiet, no one would suppose that there was anything unusual about him, but the moment he opens his mouth to talk he loses all control of his hands, arms, feet and legs, and they jerk and thrash and kick around as if they were hung on wires. The third child is a girl, who is a hunchback and a dwarf. She is 14 years old. A boy next to her is deaf and dumb. The first child has a bright red birth mark encircling her neck like a strip of flannel. It is an inch wide. The other two children are twins, 2 years old—a boy and a girl. The boy's head is covered with a dense growth of hair, while the girl has not the sign of a hair upon her head, her poll being as white, bare and shiny as a billiard ball. The girl is fat and the boy lean. When the boy cries the girl laughs heartily, and when his little sister is merry the boy yells and sheds tears.

THE WIND FANNERS.

They Take Exceptions to the "Appeal's" Version.

The following appeared in yesterday's issue:

"The Empire Wood Heavers beat the Carson Wind Fanners in a baseball game Sunday by a score of 240 to 180. The purse of $10 was expended in buying a croquet set."

Yesterday afternoon a contingent of the Carson end of the ball tossers came into the office and filing an objection to the article, demanded a retraction. While it has always been the policy of the APPEAL to correct any errors or misstatements which are at any time liable to occur in the course of publication, it is an invariable rule with us to have it first proven that we are in error.

The spokesman of the party was a square shouldered little man, wore tight pants, carried a cane, had a tough mug and was about two feet between the eyes. The following conversation ensued:

"Say, is dis de APPEAL office?"

"It is."

"Wall, we want ter know who wrote dat piece slurring de Carson baseballers. See?"

"The Sporting Editor."

"Wall, where is he? We want to see him, and we want to see him now, see?"

"He is busy just at present, will you wait, or shall I call him?"

"Call him; and do it quick."

The Sporting Editor was summoned from the back room where he had been exercising with a three-hundred-pound proof press. He sauntered in with the press on his shoulder, but seeing visitors, shifted it from his shoulder to a position under his left arm, and with a "How do you do, gentlemen; wait can I do for you?" extended his right hand.

When the spokesman recovered his composure he explained:

"Well, ye see, de boys delegated me a Committee er One to ask you to empire de game next Sunday, and I want to buy tree copies of der paper containin' dat article about our last game."

"All right, here they are; twenty-five cents please."

"Say, cull, charge 'em to me will yer?"

"What name please?"

"What's eatin' yer, don't yer know me? I'm de boxin' instructor an' main guy down to de Box Factory Club. Just send de bill in and I'll O. K. it. See?"

"Oh, yes, excuse me. I'll come down some evening, say Friday, and we will have a friendly bout with the gloves. Good day. Come in again."

When they got outside the "Professor" was heard to remark:

"Say, boys, for God's sake don't let me forget dat mug's comin' down Friday night."

Tried to Kill His Wife.

Buffalo, N. Y., April 10.—George Grawitz came home drunk Saturday night. He had been on a spree for three weeks and his wife was not surprised at his condition. He ate his supper in silence and then went up stairs into the garret. The wife heard him throwing things about, but paid no attention to him.

About half an hour later Grawitz came down stairs with two old-fashioned shotguns. They were loaded to the muzzle and Grawitz was ugly. He made for his wife and handing one of the guns to her he shouted, "Now shoot or get shot!" The poor woman took the weapon and staggered around the room, vainly attempting to get away. She did not know how to handle the gun and it went off in her hand.

The drink-crazed man took this as an acceptance of challenge for a duel, and raising his gun to the shoulder took deliberate aim at his wife. Almost paralyzed with fear, the woman saw only one avenue of escape. It was a desperate chance, but she took it. She made a sudden jump just as he fired and went through a window, carrying glass and sash with her. Grawitz fired a second shot through the window, but it did not take effect.

Mrs. Grawitz dragged herself to the house of a neighbor, who cared for her while the police were sent for. It took three policemen to subdue Grawitz.
